

The Best Brand Name in Atlanta Real Estate™

The Wall Street Journal recently ran an article on real estate agents who left the profession for other careers. For one reason or another, they weren't able to make an acceptable living selling real estate. Many agents see the shrinking competition as good news—and who can blame them? It asks a lot of a person to succeed in today's highly competitive market, and as an agent you need to take advantage of every opportunity available to remain successful long term. That's why we at Northside Brokers have spent countless hours developing a system that maximizes your productivity as well as your profitability. We provide you with everything you need to be a success in real estate, including:

- Membership in FMLS and GAMLs
- Highly sophisticated custom marketing materials
- First-class technology
- Free training and continuing education courses
- More than a dozen conference room locations
- and so much more we can't even begin to list it here.

We also know that the real estate brokerage business is changing, and we've made a few changes to keep up with the times. We have marketing arrangements with Google, Yahoo!, craigslist, and the New York Times. Our own website is second to none. You can succeed here without using paper or driving into an office if you so choose. As an added bonus, you'll keep your entire commission check as a sign of management's confidence in the quality of the service you provide.

Northside Brokers will never compromise on the quality or character of the agents we hire, and we don't guarantee you'll be offered a position. But we do encourage you to apply if you can:

- Consistently maintain Northside's high ethical standards
- Build trusting, long-term relationships with clients
- Become more productive, learn, and grow in your real estate practice
- and consistently deliver personal service and superior value to Northside's clientele.

We welcome residential and commercial agents, individually or as teams. Our friendly office staff and experienced brokers will always be available to assist you when the need arises. Once you join, you'll wonder why real estate brokerage hasn't always been this way.

NorthsideBrokers.com

©2007 Northside Brokers, Inc.

678-996-2999